

ORE-BE-GONE

Thank you for joining us out at Lake Ore-be-Gone! Historically, this lake was a series of three mining pits within the Mesabi Iron Range. This lake developed out of the flooding of three mining pits and is over 400 feet in depth. It's an excellent place for new AND experienced divers. Ore-Be-Gone is stocked with many things divers can take photo's of or swim through. Some of the things you'll see underwater: Huey Helicopter, School Bus, Cars, US army plane, Rail cars, Boats, Platforms, Fish & MORE!

Water temperatures can be as cold as 40 degrees below the thermocline and as warm as 70 degrees on the surface. Divers should consider wearing a cold water wetsuit or a dry suit, gloves, boots, and a hood. Additional items to consider bringing are dive lights, a knife, a lawn chair, rain gear, jacket, sturdy footwear, bug repellent, and a tarp. We recommend bringing multiple tanks because the nearest fill station is around 40 minutes north in Tower, MN.
